LIBR1101:

Your path to success in college!

LIBR 1101: Academic Research in the Library, is a 2-credit course offered during Fall and Spring Semesters. The class is open to all undergraduates and fulfills section B2 of the core curriculum. It can be taken in traditional face-to-face format (2 class meetings per week), 95% online or 100% online.

WHAT WILL I LEARN IN LIBR 1101?

Research can be a daunting task for many students. The increasing availability of research resources has allowed for greater coverage of more diverse research topics. However, this same volume of materials tends to increase user confusion. Through a systematic and well-developed search strategy, research can be efficient, effective, and approached in a positive manner. This course introduces you to basic research methods utilizing paper and electronic resources. To develop and refine research techniques requires practice. Therefore, the class includes a great deal of hands-on experience.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

By the end of the semester, an information literate UWG student will be able to:

1. Analyze and articulate his/her information need and identify appropriate sources of information to meet that need.
2. Understand the intellectual organization of information sources and apply that understanding in accessing information.
3. Effectively and efficiently access, evaluate, select and use needed information.
4. Demonstrate an understanding of the economic, legal and social issues surrounding the use of information.
5. Identify functional areas of a library (both physical and virtual) and demonstrate the relationship to the research process.
6. Create a research product that incorporates appropriate information and research methodology.

WHAT HAVE RECENT STUDENTS SAID ABOUT LIBR 1101?

“Loved this class... I learned a lot about research for future classes.”

“The course was very educational for me. It had been a long time since I was last in college, and the overall library experience had changed a great deal.”

“This class taught me how to thoroughly research, which is important in finishing college.”

“Awesome college course!”

“Since I’ve taken this class I now know my way around the Library, which makes research a lot easier.”

“I think the course should be required during Freshman year, because it makes research a lot easier.”

“I think this course was very interesting.”

“Great course!”

“The subject matter of this course will be relevant throughout my academic career and beyond.”

“I have already suggested this course to others, because now I don’t feel like research is a fishing game.”
